This original comedy from Universal Kids follows 12-year-old Max Graham and his eclectic group of neighborhood friends running a start-up out of his parent’s garage. Whether it’s the development of a dog translation device or ridding the Internet of trolls, these passionate young entrepreneurs are inspired to change the world while always finding a way to balance being friends, neighbors, and creators.